GUIDEBOOKS ARE CHANGING

You may have already noticed that the guidebook is slimmer than usual. That's because we've split it into two tightly focused books: an application guidebook (the one you're reading now) and a field regulations guidebook (printing in late May 2011).

This guidebook focuses on the big game application. It has the information, links and resources you will need in order to apply for a big game permit between Feb. 1 and March 3, 2011.

This application guidebook does not contain species descriptions or field regulations. Those items will appear in Utah's 2011 Big Game Field Regulations Guidebook, which will include the rules for both big game and antlerless hunting. The field regulations guidebook will be available from license agents and Division offices by the end of May. It will also be available online at wildlife.utah.gov.

In addition to these two guidebooks, an antlerless application guidebook will be available before the end of May. For more information on the antlerless application guidebook, see the box on page 9.

Who makes the rules?

The Utah Wildlife Board passes the rules and laws summarized in this guidebook.

There are seven board members, and each serves a six-year term. Appointed by the governor, board members are not Division employees.

The Division's director serves as the board's executive secretary but does not have a vote on wildlife policies.

Before board members make changes to wildlife rules, they listen to recommendations from Division biologists. They also receive input from the public and various interest groups via the regional advisory council (RAC) process.

If you have feedback or suggestions for board members, you can find their contact information online at wildlife.utah.gov.

HIGHLIGHTS

What's new this season?

Nine-day rifle deer hunt in most areas: In 2011, the general-season rifle deer hunt will be extended to nine days, running from Oct. 22–30 across most of Utah. For a complete list of season dates, please see page 6.

Shorter deer hunt in a few areas: There are a few hunting units where the general-season rifle deer hunt will be shortened to five days. In 2011, the hunting season will last from Oct. 22–26 on the following units: Oquirrh-Stansbury; Monroe; Plateau, Boulder/Kaiparowits; and South Slope, Vernal. For a complete list of season dates in those four units, please see page 6.

Attention Dedicated Hunters: Before you sign up for the program this year, you need to be aware of changes that may occur during your enrollment. To learn more, please see the information box on page 24.

How many permits will be available in 2011?

The Utah Wildlife Board will set permit numbers for both the big game and antlerless hunts when it meets on May 5, 2011.

This meeting occurs after the big game application period and before the antlerless application period.

Division biologists will collect and analyze the most recent harvest and population data before making their recommendations to the Wildlife Board.

Apply online for depredation hunts: Occasionally, the Division issues depredation permits. These permits allow hunters to remove nuisance animals that affect homeowners and livestock. To apply for a depredation permit, visit wildlife.utah.gov/depredation.

And keep in mind

Hunting license required: Before you can apply for a 2011 big game permit, bonus point or preference point, you must have a valid Utah hunting or combination license. Please see pages 10–11 for more information.

Mandatory reporting: Many big game hunters must report hunt information within 30 calendar days after the end of the hunting season (even if they did not harvest an animal). To see if you are required to report—and to learn how to report—see the information box on page 27 or visit wildlife.utah.gov/harvestreporting.

Collecting shed antlers: If you want to collect shed antlers and horns from Feb. 1 to April 15, you must complete an online course. You will receive a course-completion certificate that you must carry on your person while collecting the antlers and horns. For more information, see page 22.

Don't lose your hunting and fishing privileges

If you commit a wildlife violation, you could lose the privilege of hunting and fishing in Utah. The Utah Division of Wildlife Resources can suspend the license of anyone who knowingly, intentionally or recklessly violates wildlife laws. Your license can be suspended for a wildlife violation if:

- You are convicted.
- You plead guilty or no contest.
- You enter a plea in abeyance.

You will be notified of any action against your privilege after criminal proceedings conclude. And remember, if your license is suspended in Utah, you may not be permitted to hunt or fish in most other states. (Visit ianrc.org to see a map of participating states.)

Guidebook correction: If errors are found in this guidebook after it is printed, the Division will correct them in the online copy. Visit wildlife.utah.gov/guidebooks to view digital versions of all the Division's guidebooks.

Protection from discrimination: The Division receives federal financial assistance from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the U.S. Department of the Interior and its bureaus prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, disability or sex. If you believe that you have been discriminated against in any program, activity or facility, or if you desire further information, please write to:

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service
Office for Diversity and Civil Rights Programs—External Programs
4040 North Fairfax Drive, Suite 130
Arlington, VA 22203

Private lands: The Division cannot guarantee access to any private land. If you plan to hunt—or engage in any other wildlife-related activities—in an area made up of all or mostly private lands, you must obtain WRITTEN permission from the landowner or the landowner's authorized representative. For more information, please see Utah Code §§ 23-20-14 and 23-20-3.5.

Division funding: The Division is mostly funded by the sale of hunting and fishing licenses and through federal aid made possible by an excise tax on the sale of firearms and other hunting- and fishing-related equipment.

Take a closer look at the rules

This guidebook summarizes the rules and laws that regulate big game hunting in Utah. Although it is a convenient quick-reference document for Utah big game regulations, it is not an all-encompassing resource.

For an in-depth look at the state's big game hunting laws and rules, visit wildlife.utah.gov/rules.

You can use the references in the guidebook—such as Utah Administrative Rule R657-5-24 and Utah Code § 23-20-25—to search the Division's website for the detailed statute or rule that underpins the guidebook summary.

If you have questions about a particular rule, call or visit the nearest Division office.

Antlerless big game hunting

Antlerless hunting is the primary tool biologists use to control the size of big game herds.

In Utah, you can hunt antlerless animals if you obtain an antlerless permit for the species you want to hunt. This year, you can apply online for antlerless deer, elk and moose permits, and for doe pronghorn permits.

In May 2011, the Division will provide an antlerless application guidebook to help you prepare for the 2011 antlerless application period, which begins on June 1.

The Division will also print a combined big game and antlerless field requirements guidebook in late May. That guidebook will contain information you can use in the field during the big game and antlerless hunts.

The Antlerless application period will run from June 1–21, 2011, and the drawing results will be available by July 14. If any antlerless permits remain available after the drawing, you can purchase them beginning at 7 a.m. on July 21. You can buy them at wildlife.utah.gov and at license agent locations and Division offices.

Please remember

If you obtain an antlerless deer or elk permit, you can also obtain a buck deer or a bull elk permit.

You may have only one pronghorn and one moose permit each year. If you obtain a doe pronghorn or a cow moose permit, you may not obtain a buck pronghorn or a bull moose permit this year.

Utah Big Game • 2011

BASIC REQUIREMENTS

Are you planning to hunt big game in Utah this year? Before you apply for a permit, make sure you meet Utah's age, hunter education, license and permit requirements.

Are you old enough?

Utah Code § 23-19-22

To hunt big game in Utah, you must be at least 12 years old.

If you're 11 years old—but you'll be 12 by Dec. 31, 2011—you can apply for or obtain a big game permit. Remember, you cannot hunt until you are 12 years old.

If you're 11 to 13 years old, you are eligible to:

- Apply for general season deer, youth any bull elk, or buck/bull combination permits in the drawing.
- Buy general season deer, general season elk and youth any bull elk permits over the counter.
- Buy a Cooperative Wildlife Management Unit (CWMU) permit directly from a CWMU operator.

Adults must accompany young hunters

Utah Code § 23-20-20

While hunting big game, a person under 16 years old must be accompanied by his or her parent, legal guardian or other responsible person who is 21 years of age or older and who has been approved by the parent or guardian.

The Division encourages adults to be familiar with hunter education guidelines or to complete the hunter education course before accompanying youth into the field.

While in the field, the youth and the adult must remain close enough for the adult to see and provide verbal assistance to the young hunter. Using electronic devices, such as walkie-talkies or cell phones, does not meet this requirement.

If you're 13 years old—and you'll be 14 by Dec. 31, 2011—you can also apply for limited-entry or CWMU permits in the public drawing.

All hunters under the age of 16 must be accompanied in the field by a parent, legal guardian or responsible person 21 years of age or older. For more information on this requirement, see the information box below.

Have you passed hunter education?

Utah Code § 23-19-11 & Utah Admin. Rule R657-23

If you were born after Dec. 31, 1965, you must provide proof that you've passed a hunter education course approved by the Division before you can apply for or obtain a hunting license or a big game permit.

This proof can be a hunter education course Certificate of Completion (this certificate is called a "blue card" in Utah) or a hunting license from a previous year with your hunter education number noted on the license.

If you become a Utah resident, and you've completed a hunter education course in another state, province or country, you must obtain a blue card before you can apply for or buy a resident hunting license or a resident big game permit. You can obtain a Utah blue card at any Division office by providing proof that you've completed a hunter education course approved by the Division. The card costs $10.

For more information on how to complete Utah's hunter education course, see the information box on page 11 or visit wildlife.utah.gov/huntereducation.

Do you have a license?

Utah Code §§§ 23-19-1, 23-19-22 and 23-20-3

You must have a current Utah hunting or combination (hunting and fishing) license before you can apply for any big game permits, bonus points or preference points. Licenses are available at wildlife.utah.gov and from license agents and Division offices.

Be sure to take a quick look at the date on your license before you apply for any permits or points. As long as your license is valid on the date you submit your application, you don't have to purchase a new license for the actual hunt.

For example, assume that your license expires on June 25, 2011. If you apply before that date, you do not have to purchase a new license for your hunt in the fall. All hunting and combination licenses are valid for 365 days from the date of purchase.

Do you have a permit?

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-19

To participate in any of Utah's big game hunts, you need to obtain a hunting permit. See page 12 to learn about the types of permits available in 2011.

Utah issues most of its big game permits through the big game hunt drawing. To apply for this drawing, visit wildlife.utah.gov between Feb. 1 and March 3, 2011. For additional details and important dates, see Applying for a Big Game Permit on page 13.

Carry your permit

If you are successful in obtaining a big game permit, you must have it on your person while hunting. You cannot alter your license or permit, nor can you sell, transfer or loan either of them to another person.

It's required: Hunter education

If you were born after 1965, you must take and successfully complete the state's hunter education course. It's an easy process:

1. Obtain a hunter education registration certificate. Each certificate costs only $10, and you can obtain them online at wildlife.utah.gov or over the counter from the Division or a license agent.
2. Register for a class with your local hunter education instructor.
3. Take your registration certificate to your instructor on the first night of class.
4. Successfully complete the course—your instructor will then validate your certificate. The validated certificate serves as your hunting license.

Note: Both the registration certificate and the corresponding hunting license are valid for 365 days from the date of purchase. The license enables you to apply for or obtain permits in the Division's hunt drawings. In order to maximize your hunting opportunities, you should register for and complete the hunter education course as soon as possible after purchasing your registration certificate.

After completing the course, you will receive your official hunter education card (commonly known as the "blue card") by mail. It will be sent to the address listed on your registration certificate. This card certifies that you passed hunter education.

You should also keep the following in mind:

- Hunters under the age of 16 must be accompanied by an adult while hunting.
- Regardless of when a student graduates, all hunting regulations (such as season dates and bag limits) will apply.
- Students who are planning to hunt out of state should allow enough time for their hunter education card to arrive in the mail.

For more information or to see a list of online hunter education courses, visit wildlife.utah.gov/huntereducation. You can also contact your local Division office or call 801-538-4727.

TYPES OF BIG GAME PERMITS

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-19

Before you apply for a Utah big game permit, it's important to know what your options are. Although residents and nonresidents can apply for many of the same types of permits, there are some differences. This section explains what you can apply for, based on your residency. See pages 26–50 for a detailed look at all of Utah's big game hunts.

Residents

If you're a Utah resident, you can apply to hunt one of the following:

- Buck deer—premium limited-entry, limited-entry, management buck deer and CWMU hunts
- Bull elk—premium limited-entry, limited-entry and CWMU hunts
- Buck pronghorn—limited-entry and CWMU hunts

In addition to applying for a limited-entry permit for one of those three species, you can also apply for one once-in-a-lifetime permit.

You may draw only one of the above permits each year.

Nonresidents

If you're a nonresident, you can apply to hunt all of the following:

- Buck deer—premium limited-entry, limited-entry and management buck deer hunts
- Bull elk—premium limited-entry and limited-entry hunts
- Buck pronghorn—limited-entry hunts
- All once-in-a-lifetime species for which you are eligible

You may draw only one of the above permits each year.

Note: All nonresident big game permits also serve as nonresident fishing licenses.

Both residents and nonresidents

There are additional hunting opportunities available to both residents and nonresidents. Even if you apply for one or more of the hunts listed at the left of this page, you can also apply for one of the following general buck deer or buck/bull combination permits:

- An archery buck deer permit
- A regional any legal weapon (rifle) buck deer permit
- A regional muzzleloader buck deer permit
- An any legal weapon Northern Region buck deer/bull elk combination permit

As you apply for various permits, please remember that you may not obtain more than one buck deer or one bull elk permit each year. For example, if you obtain a limited-entry deer permit, you may not buy a general season deer permit.

You also may not obtain more than one pronghorn, moose, mountain goat, bison or bighorn sheep permit in the same year.

Reminder: If you'll be 18 years of age or younger on Sept. 17, 2011, you can also apply for a youth any bull elk permit.

Residency

Utah Code 23-13-2(37)

Before you apply for a big game hunt, it's important to know whether you are a legal resident of the state of Utah. See the definition of residency on pages 51–52 to determine whether you are a resident or a nonresident.

APPLYING FOR A BIG GAME PERMIT

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-17

To participate in any of Utah's big game hunts, you need a hunting permit. Your first, and possibly only, chance to obtain one of these permits is through the state's big game drawing. Before you can apply, you must also have a valid Utah hunting or combination license. If you don't have one of these licenses, you can buy one online when you apply.

Important dates

If you are planning to apply for a 2011 big game permit, please be aware of the following dates and deadlines.

February 1: Apply online

Starting Feb. 1, 2011, you can visit wildlife.utah.gov to apply for the following items:

- Big game hunting permits
- Bonus points
- Preference points

You can also apply by calling any Division office.

To apply for a resident permit, you must be a resident on the date the permit is purchased. May 31, 2011 is considered the purchase date of the permit and the date by which you must establish residency in the state of Utah. Please see the resident definition on pages 51–52 to learn whether you qualify as a resident.

American Express, Discover, MasterCard and VISA credit or debit cards may be used as payment, and they must be valid through June 2011. You can also use a pre-paid credit card. If you have questions about using a pre-paid credit card, check with your financial institution for more information.

When you submit your application, you'll be charged an application fee for each species or bonus point you applied for. If you haven't bought your license yet, you'll also be charged a license fee. You will not be charged a permit fee unless you draw a permit.

March 3: Deadline for permit applications

You must apply online or by phone no later than March 3, 2011. There's an 11 p.m. deadline for online applications and a 6 p.m. deadline for phone applications. To apply, simply visit wildlife.utah.gov or call any Division office.

Correcting and resubmitting your application

Did you make a mistake in your online permit application? Simply withdraw your original online application and submit a new, correct application before 11 p.m. on March 3, 2011.

You must have your confirmation number, your customer ID and your date of birth in order to withdraw your application. For each new application you submit, you will be charged a $10 nonrefundable application fee.

If you need help with your online application, please call any Division office before 6 p.m. on

You may not apply if...

You may not apply for a permit or a bonus point if any of the following conditions apply:

- Your license for big game hunting has been suspended.
- You're under a waiting period for the species you want to apply for.
- You've already obtained a permit for the once-in-a-lifetime species you want to apply for.
- You drew a limited-entry, premium limited-entry or once-in-a-lifetime permit in 2010, but you didn't submit a harvest report.
- You don't have a hunting or combination license.

March 3. A Division employee will be available to assist you!

March 10: Deadline for bonus/preference points

If you plan to apply for bonus or preference points only, the deadline is March 10, 2011 at 11 p.m.

Visit wildlife.utah.gov to submit your application, and please remember that you must have a valid Utah hunting or combination license in order to apply for a point.

March 14: Deadline for withdrawing your application

If you decide not to hunt, you can withdraw your online permit application at no cost until 11 p.m. on March 14, 2011.

Please remember that the $10 application fee is not refundable.

More youth permits

Twenty percent of the general buck deer permits in each region are reserved for hunters who will be 18 years of age or younger on Aug. 20, 2011 (the opening day of the general archery buck deer season).

If you meet the age requirements, you can participate in the youth drawing by submitting an application as an individual hunter. You won't be included in the youth drawing if you apply as a member of a group.

If you do not obtain a permit in the drawing, you may still have an opportunity to hunt. An additional 1,500 youth archery deer permits will be available to young hunters beginning July 27, 2011.

If you are eligible to obtain this permit and you will be 18 years of age or younger on Aug. 20, you can purchase the permit at wildlife.utah.gov or by visiting any license agent or Division office.

May 31: Drawing results available

You'll be notified of your drawing results by e-mail. You can also learn your drawing results by visiting wildlife.utah.gov or by calling 1-800-221-0659, starting May 31, 2011.

To protect applicants' privacy—and to comply with changes in governmental records access laws—you'll receive access to only your own drawing results.

If you draw a permit, you'll receive your permit in the mail in June.

If your permit requires you to complete an online orientation course, you must first complete the course in order to receive your permit.

Please be aware that if you receive your permit, and then the credit card you used for payment is refused, your permit is not valid.

July 19: Remaining limited-entry permits available

Any limited-entry permits remaining after the big game drawing will be available beginning July 19 at 7 a.m. You can buy permits at wildlife.utah.gov and at license agent locations and Division offices.

Remaining permits are available on a first-come, first-served basis. You must have a valid hunting license or a combination license to buy one of these permits.

A license agent list is available at wildlife.utah.gov/licenses/agent.html. Before you visit any of the agents, contact them to verify their hours of operation.

July 27: Remaining general season buck deer permits available

Any general season buck deer permits remaining after the drawing may be obtained beginning at 7 a.m. on July 27, 2011 at wildlife.utah.gov and from license agents and Division offices. Remaining permits are available on a first-come, first-served basis. You must have a valid hunting license or a combination license to buy one of these permits.

Drawing process

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-19

Big game permits are drawn in the following order:

- First—buck deer (premium limited-entry, limited-entry, CWMU and management buck deer)
- Second—bull elk (premium limited-entry, limited-entry and CWMU)
- Third—buck pronghorn (limited-entry and CWMU)
- Fourth—once-in-a-lifetime
- Fifth—youth general buck deer
- Sixth—general buck deer and general buck/bull combination
- Last—youth any bull elk

Because of the order in which permits are drawn, you won't be included in the drawing for a once-in-a-lifetime permit if you draw any of the following permits:

- Buck deer (limited-entry, premium limited-entry, CWMU or management buck deer)
- Bull elk (limited-entry, premium limited-entry or CWMU)
- Buck pronghorn (limited-entry or CWMU)

A license agent list is available at wildlife.utah.gov/licenses/agent.html. Before you visit any of the agents, contact them to verify their hours of operation.

July 27: General bull permits available

General bull elk permits may be obtained beginning at 7 a.m. on July 27, 2011 at wildlife.utah.gov and from license agents and Division offices. General bull elk permits are available on a first-come, first-served basis. You must have a valid hunting license or a combination license to buy a general bull elk permit.

Applying as a group

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-7 and R657-62-19

Instead of applying as an individual hunter, you and your friends and family can apply together as a group.

Both residents and nonresidents can apply together. However, if you're a Utah resident and you decide to apply with a nonresident, make sure nonresident permits are available for each hunt your group is applying for. If nonresident permits are not available for a hunt your group is applying for, the nonresident and everyone else in the group—including the Utah residents—will not be allowed to draw for that hunt unit.

Up to four hunters can apply together for limited-entry, premium limited-entry and resident CWMU deer, elk or pronghorn permits. Group applications are not accepted for management buck deer hunts.

Up to 10 hunters can apply together for general buck deer and buck/bull combination permits.

NOTE: If you're a youth, and you want to be included among those who draw for buck deer permits that are reserved for youth, you must apply as an individual hunter. Do NOT apply as part of a group. Please see page 14 for more information about youth hunting opportunities.

Up to two youths may apply together for youth any bull elk permits.

If your group is successful in the drawing, all of the applicants in your group who have valid applications will receive a permit.

A license agent list is available at wildlife.utah.gov/licenses/agent.html. Before you visit any of the agents, contact them to verify their hours of operation.

Utah Big Game • 2011

Waiting periods

Waiting periods keep successful applicants out of the drawing for a few years and give other hunters a better chance at drawing a permit.

Buck deer, buck pronghorn and bull elk permits

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-19

The waiting period for buck deer and buck pronghorn is two years. The bull elk waiting period is five years. Waiting periods do not apply to general season permits.

Once-in-a-lifetime permits

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-19

Bull moose, bison, Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep, desert bighorn sheep and Rocky Mountain goat permits are once-in-a-lifetime permits. For example, if you obtain a once-in-a-lifetime permit, such as a bull moose permit, you may not apply for or obtain a bull moose permit again.

You can still apply for once-in-a-lifetime species that you haven't drawn a permit for, however.

Also, if you've been convicted of unlawfully taking a once-in-a-lifetime species, you may never apply for or obtain a permit for that species again.

Permits obtained after the drawing

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-15

If you're under a waiting period for a certain species, you can still obtain any permit that remains for that species after the drawing, but your waiting period will start all over again.

For example, if you have two years left on your bull elk waiting period, and you buy a limited-entry bull elk permit that remains available after the drawing, you'll begin a new five-year waiting period that will prevent you from applying for a limited-entry bull elk permit for the next five years.

If you're not already under a waiting period—and you obtain a limited-entry or once-in-a-lifetime permit that remains available after the drawing—you will lose your bonus points for that species and incur a waiting period.

Depredation hunts

When deer, elk, bison or pronghorn cause damage to agricultural crops, the Division may hold hunts that are not listed in this guide. These hunts are called depredation hunts. They may occur on short notice, involve small areas and are often limited to only a few hunters.

To apply for the depredation hunter pool, complete and submit an online application at wildlife.utah.gov/depredation.

CWMU, conservation, convention and landowner permits

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-19

If you obtain a limited-entry CWMU, conservation, convention or landowner permit—for deer, elk or pronghorn—you won't be subject to a waiting period.

The rules regarding CWMU and once-in-a-lifetime permits are as follows:

- If you have obtained a once-in-a-lifetime permit in the public drawing in the past, you may buy a once-in-a-lifetime permit from a landowner or a CWMU operator.
- If you have not obtained a once-in-a-lifetime permit in the public drawing—and you buy a once-in-a-lifetime permit from a landowner or a CWMU operator—you may not obtain a permit in the public drawing for that species in the future.
- If you have obtained a once-in-a-lifetime permit in the wildlife convention drawing, you may not apply for that species in any other public drawing.

Bonus points

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-8

Utah's bonus point system has been put in place to increase your chance of drawing a big game permit.

Every time you apply for a limited-entry, premium limited-entry, management buck deer, CWMU or once-in-a-lifetime permit, but you don't draw one, you receive a bonus point for that species.

Applying for a general buck deer permit will not affect your ability to obtain a bonus point for limited-entry deer. If you draw a general buck deer permit, you'll still receive a bonus point if you are unsuccessful in drawing a limited-entry, premium limited-entry or CWMU deer permit.

Lifetime license holders: Obtaining your permit in 2011

Utah Admin. Rule R657-17

Lifetime licenses were last sold in Utah in 1994. If you are one of the lucky hunters who has a lifetime license, the Division wants you to obtain your deer permit as quickly and smoothly as possible:

- If you want to hunt the same region you hunted last year, you don't have to do anything. You'll receive your permit in the mail.
- If you want to hunt a different region than you hunted last year, you'll need to complete the online lifetime license questionnaire. The questionnaire is located in the big game application. Visit wildlife.utah.gov between Feb. 1 and March 3, 2011 to access the application, complete the questionnaire and change your region.
- If you have not selected a region for the past three years, please complete the lifetime license questionnaire by March 3, 2011. Otherwise, you will not receive a permit.
- If your address changes, please notify the Division immediately.
- If you join the Dedicated Hunter program, you are not required to complete your lifetime license questionnaire.

For more information about lifetime licenses, visit go.usa.gov/1em or see Utah Admin. Rule R657-17 at wildlife.utah.gov/rules.

Don't lose your points

If you do not apply for a limited-entry or once-in-a-lifetime permit—or a bonus point—at least once in a consecutive three-year period, you will lose any bonus points you've accrued.

This rule went into effect in 2009, and point loss will not occur until after the 2012 antlerless drawing.

If you didn't apply for a limited-entry or once-in-a-lifetime permit or point in 2010, simply apply for one of them in either 2011 or 2012 to avoid losing your points.

Applying for a bonus point

Even if you're not going to hunt in 2011, you can still receive a bonus point by applying for one. To apply for a bonus point, select the appropriate bonus point code on your application and pay the $10 application fee. The 2010 bonus point application period is Feb. 1–March 10, 2011.

Because you apply for bonus points by species instead of by hunt, you may apply for a limited-entry, premium limited-entry, management buck deer or once-in-a-lifetime bonus point, even if the specific hunt the bonus point is being awarded for isn't being offered in 2011.

To apply for a bonus point, you must be eligible for the hunt the bonus point will be awarded for. For example, if you're eligible for a limited-entry buck deer permit, you're eligible to apply for a limited-entry buck deer bonus point.

Residents

If you're a resident, you may apply for one of the following:

- One limited-entry permit and one once-in-a-lifetime permit
- One limited-entry permit and one once-in-a-lifetime bonus point
- One limited-entry bonus point and one once-in-a-lifetime permit
- One limited-entry bonus point and one once-in-a-lifetime bonus point

Utah Big Game • 2011

You may NOT apply for the following:

- A permit and a bonus point for the same species
- More than one limited-entry bonus point or more than one premium limited-entry bonus point
- More than one once-in-a-lifetime bonus point

Nonresidents

If you're a nonresident, you may apply for permits or bonus points for all limited-entry and once-in-a-lifetime species. However, you may not apply for a permit and a bonus point for the same species.

Please remember that you may draw only one limited-entry or once-in-a-lifetime permit each year.

How your bonus points work

Fifty percent (odd numbers are rounded down) of the permits for each hunt unit number are set aside for applicants who have the most bonus points.

Before the drawing takes place, a computer randomly assigns a drawing number to you for each species you applied for. The computer also randomly assigns a drawing number to you for each bonus point you have for the species you're applying for. After the computer has randomly assigned your numbers to you, it takes the lowest number you received, and that's the number you'll use in the drawing. The lower your number, the better your chance at drawing a permit.

Applying as a group

When two or more hunters apply as a group, their bonus points are averaged and rounded down.

For example, if hunter A has seven bonus points, and hunter B has zero bonus points—and they apply together as a group—their bonus points are averaged (3.5) and rounded down to three. The computer then assigns the group three random drawing numbers for their three bonus points, plus one random drawing number (instead of two drawing numbers) because the two hunters are applying together as a group. That leaves the group of two hunters with a total of four drawing numbers. The computer then takes the lowest number the group received, and that's the number the group will use in the drawing.

Obtain permission to hunt private property

If you want to hunt on private property, you must obtain written permission from the landowner before you can hunt. Ideally, you should have permission before you even apply for a permit.

If you obtain written permission in advance, you know you'll be able to use the permit if you draw it.

The Division cannot guarantee access to private land, and the agency does not have the names of landowners who own property where hunts occur.

Preference points

Utah Admin. Rule R657-62-10

Utah's preference point system gives hunters who don't draw a general buck deer or a Northern Region buck/bull combination permit a better chance at drawing one the following year.

Each time you apply for one of these permits and don't draw one, you'll receive a preference point.

Applying for a preference point

Even if you won't be hunting general buck deer in 2011, you can still apply for a preference point by selecting code GDR on your application and paying a $10 application fee. The application period is Feb. 1–March 10, 2011.

Draw a permit, receive a preference point

If you hunt general season buck deer, it's worth your time to mark more than just your first hunt choice when applying for a permit.

If you aren't successful in drawing your first choice—but you draw your second, third, fourth or fifth choice—you will still receive a preference point.

For example, if you choose the Southeastern Region as your first choice and the Central Region as your second choice, and then you draw the Central Region permit (your second choice), you will receive a preference point.

If you draw your first choice, you will not receive a preference point.

How your preference points work in the drawing

In the drawing, general buck deer applications are first sorted into groups based on the number of preference points each applicant has: a 4 preference point group, a 3 preference point group and so forth. Then, a computer randomly assigns drawing numbers to each applicant in each group. The computer then takes the lowest drawing number you received, and that's the number you'll use in the drawing. The lower your number, the better your chance at drawing a permit.

Permits are awarded to the 4 preference point group first.

Applying as a group

When two or more applicants apply as a group, their preference points are averaged and rounded down. For example, if hunter A has three preference points, and hunter B has zero preference points, their preference points are averaged (1.5) and rounded down to one. You and your hunting companion would then be included in the 1 preference point group.

Applications in the 1 preference point group are considered after all the groups or individuals with two or more preference points have been considered, and before all of the groups or individuals with zero preference points are considered.

If you obtain a limited-entry, premium limited-entry or CWMU deer or elk permit, you'll still receive a preference point if you applied for a general deer permit.

Surrendering a permit

Utah Code § 23-19-38 and Utah Admin. Rule R657-42

What happens if you obtain a permit and then realize you won't be able to use it?

As long as your season hasn't started, you should consider surrendering the permit. It's an easy process, and it's important if you want to keep your bonus points or preference points and avoid a waiting period.

Depending on the type of permit you have, there are different rules for surrendering it.

Individuals

How permit surrender affects bonus points

If you draw a limited-entry, premium limited-entry or once-in-a-lifetime permit—and then you decide to surrender it—it's a good idea to return it to the Division before the season opens.

If you surrender it before the start of the season, you'll get all of your bonus points back, and you'll receive a bonus point for that year.

You'll also be eligible to purchase a reallocated permit or any other available permit you're eligible to obtain.

Refunds are subject to Utah Code § 23-19-38. Please see Sales final on page 21 for more information.

How permit surrender affects preference points

If you obtain a general season buck deer permit, and then you find that you won't be able to use it, you can get your preference points back if you surrender the permit before the season begins. You'll also receive a preference point for that year and be eligible to purchase reallocated permits or permits that are still available after the drawing.

Refunds are subject to Utah Code § 23-19-38. Please see Sales final on page 21 for more information.

How permit surrender affects waiting periods

If you surrender your permit before the season begins, the waiting period will be waived. General season permits are not subject to waiting periods.

Groups

How permit surrender affects bonus points

If you obtain a permit through a group application—and then you decide to surrender it—you will not have your bonus points reinstated or earn a new point unless your entire group meets the following conditions:

- All group members must surrender their permits
- Permit surrenders must occur more than 30 days before the start of the season

Members of the group may not surrender their permits individually unless the surrender occurs because of:

- Activation in the military
- An injury that will prevent the individual from hunting
- Death

Refunds are subject to Utah Code § 23-19-38. Please see Sales final on page 21 for more information.

How permit surrender affects waiting periods

If members of a group surrender their permits before the season begins, the waiting period will be waived. General season permits are not subject to waiting periods.

Dedicated hunters

If you're enrolled in the Dedicated Hunter program, and you decide to surrender your permit, you must return it to the Division before Aug. 20, 2011 (the day the general archery deer season opens).

Private landowner and CWMU permit holders

If you obtain a limited-entry landowner permit or a CWMU permit, you can surrender it.

Limited-entry private landowner permits must be surrendered before the season the permit was issued for opens.

To surrender a CWMU permit, there are two options. If possible, you should surrender your CWMU permit before the CWMU season opening dates listed on page 6.

To surrender your permit after the CWMU season has started, you and the person who issued the permit to you (the CWMU operator or the landowner-association operator) must sign an affidavit stating that you did not hunt with the permit. Both of the signatures must be notarized.

After the signatures are notarized, submit the affidavit and the unused permit to the Division.

In some cases, you can still receive a refund if you surrender a CWMU or limited-entry landowner permit after the season opens.

Please see the Sales final section on page 21 for more information.

Permit refunds and exchanges

Utah Code § 23-19-38 & Utah Admin. Rule R657-42

Refunds

Q—If I apply for a permit, but I don't draw one, will I get a refund?

A—The $10 application fees are the only fees you're charged when you apply. The application fees are not refundable.

Sales final

Q—If I buy a license or permit, and then find that I can't use it, can I get a refund?

A—In most cases you can't get a refund, but there are some exceptions. The Division may provide a refund under the following circumstances:

- The Division or the Utah Wildlife Board cancels the hunt for which you obtained the permit.
- The Division determines that it collected a fee from you by mistake. If you believe the Division collected a fee from you by mistake, please contact the agency. The Division has a committee that reviews these mistakes.
- You obtain a limited-entry permit and then surrender it to the Division no less than 30 days before the season-opening date. Under these circumstances, you will receive a refund of the permit fee—minus a $25 refund fee—and your bonus points will be reinstated.
- You become ill or suffer an injury that prevents you from participating in the hunt you obtained a permit for. To receive a refund, you must provide verification from a physician of your illness or injury. You must also surrender the permit before the season the permit was issued for ends. You cannot receive a refund if you hunted.
- If you're a member of the United States Armed Forces, or a public health or a public safety organization, you might be eligible for a refund if you're mobilized or deployed in the interest of national defense or emergency, and your mobilization or deployment prevents you from participating in the hunting or fishing activity you bought the license or permit for.

A refund may also be granted if the person to whom the license or permit was issued dies before they can participate in the hunt.

Duplicate licenses

Utah Code § 23-19-10 & Utah Admin. Rule R657-5-5

Q—If I lose my license or permit, can I get another one?

A—Yes. If your unexpired license or permit is destroyed, lost or stolen, you can obtain a duplicate from a Division office or a license agent for $10 or half of the price of the original license or permit, whichever is less.

To obtain a duplicate, the Division may require that you sign an affidavit testifying that the license or permit was lost, stolen or destroyed.

If you drew a license or permit, but you never received it, the Division may waive the fee that you would normally have to pay to get a duplicate.

Permit exchanges

Q—I'd like to exchange my general buck deer permit, or my general bull elk permit, for a general season permit for a different region or area. Or, I'd like to exchange my general buck deer or bull elk permit to hunt during a different season in the region or area I obtained the permit for. Can I do that?

A—You can exchange your permit for another available region or area, but you must exchange your permit for a permit for the same species and sex. For example, you cannot exchange a buck deer permit for a bull elk permit.

You can also exchange your permit to hunt during a different season in the region or area you obtained a permit for. For example, you can exchange your general muzzleloader deer permit for a general rifle buck deer permit for the same region. You must exchange your permit before the season you have a permit for opens. For example, if you want to exchange a general muzzleloader deer permit for a general rifle deer permit, you must exchange the muzzleloader permit before the general muzzleloader season opens.

Gathering shed antlers

Utah Admin. Rule R657-5-22

You may possess antlers or horns—or parts of antlers or horns—that were obtained:

- From lawfully harvested big game
- By lawfully meeting the requirements listed in the "Purchasing or Selling Big Game or Their Parts" rule (see Utah Admin. Rule R657-5-21 at wildlife.utah.gov/rules)
- From lawfully gathered antlers or horns shed by big game animals

You may gather shed antlers or horns—or parts of shed antlers or horns—statewide, but there are a couple of seasonal requirements.

From Feb. 1 to April 15, 2011, you must have an antler-gathering certificate on your person while collecting shed antlers or horns. You can obtain this certificate free of charge by visiting wildlife.utah.gov and completing an online education course. You do not need an antler-gathering certificate at any other time of the year.

"Shed antlers" are antlers that a big game animal has dropped naturally as part of its annual life cycle. Shed antlers have a rounded base that's commonly called an antler button or burr.

A "shed horn" is the sheath from the horn of a pronghorn that the animal has dropped naturally as part of its annual life cycle. Pronghorn are the only big game animals that shed their horns.

If you'd like to exchange a Dedicated Hunter permit for a different region, you must do so before Sept. 28 (the day the state's general muzzleloader deer season opens). You may exchange your permit only for a region that still has permits available.

You must pay a $10 handling fee to exchange a permit.

SPORTSMAN PERMIT DRAWING FOR 2012

Utah Admin. Rule R657-41, R657-42 and R657-62-25

Long season dates — and the ability to hunt almost every hunting unit in Utah — make sportsman permits the most prized permits offered to Utah's public hunters.

Only Utah residents can apply for sportsman permits. One sportsman permit is usually offered each year for each of the following species: buck deer, buck pronghorn, bull elk, bull moose, desert bighorn sheep (ram), Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep (ram), hunter's choice bison (excluding Antelope Island) and hunter's choice Rocky Mountain goat. Sportsman permits are also offered for black bear, cougar and wild turkey.

Bonus points cannot be earned or used in the sportsman drawings.

Important dates for applicants

November 1, 2011: Apply online

Utah residents can apply for a permit at wildlife.utah.gov. You can also apply by calling any Division office.

To apply for a 2012 sportsman's permit, you must be at least 14 years old by Dec. 31, 2012.

You must also be a Utah resident on the date the permit is purchased. Dec. 1, 2011 is considered the purchase date of the permit and the date by which you must establish residency in the state of Utah. Please see the resident definition on pages 51–52 to learn whether you qualify as a resident.

When you apply, a $10 nonrefundable application fee will be charged. You will not be charged for a permit unless you're successful in drawing one. A valid hunting or combination license is required to apply.

November 23, 2011: Application deadline

You must apply online or by phone no later than Nov. 23, 2011. There's an 11 p.m. deadline for online applications and a 6 p.m. deadline for phone applications. To apply, simply visit wildlife.utah.gov or call any Division office.

November 23, 2011: Withdrawing your application

If you decide not to hunt, you can withdraw your online permit application at no cost until 11 p.m. on Nov. 23, 2011.

Please remember that the $10 application fee is not refundable.

December 1, 2011: Drawing results available

You'll be notified of your drawing results by e-mail. You can also receive the drawing results by visiting wildlife.utah.gov or by calling 1-800-221-0659.

Waiting periods

You may apply for a sportsman deer, elk, pronghorn, bear or cougar permit, even if you are on a waiting period for that species. Likewise, you will not be given a waiting period if you draw a sportsman deer, elk, pronghorn, bear or cougar permit.

You may not apply for a sportsman bison, bull moose, desert bighorn sheep, Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep or Rocky Mountain goat permit If you have already used your once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for that species. If you draw a sportsman permit for a once-in-a-lifetime permit species, you will be given a lifetime waiting period for that species.

DEDICATED HUNTER PROGRAM

Utah Admin. Rule R657-38

Enjoy more hunting opportunities and help Utah wildlife

Want to spend more time hunting deer in Utah? You should consider applying for the state's popular Dedicated Hunter Program.

This year, the Division will hold a drawing to fill approximately 4,400 open spots in the three-year program.

If your name is drawn—and you meet the program requirements—you can expect great hunting opportunities and a chance to help Utah wildlife.

Program may change

Utah Admin. Rule R657-38

Before you apply for the Dedicated Hunter Program, please be aware of the following conditions:

- If you are successful in the 2011 Dedicated Hunter Program drawing, you will be enrolled in a three-year program.
- In 2011, you will have the opportunity to hunt buck deer in a region of your choice.
- In 2012, the five deer-hunting regions will be replaced by approximately 29 hunting units. With this change, you will receive a permit to hunt in one of the units, but it is very possible that you might not receive your unit of choice in 2012 and 2013.
- Refunds will not be given if you are successful in the drawing and then choose to withdraw from the program.

All Dedicated Hunters are subject to any changes made to the rules and regulations. If you are unwilling to accept the potential changes for 2012 and 2013, please do not apply for the Dedicated Hunter Program at this time.

Benefits and requirements

As a Dedicated Hunter, you can obtain a deer permit every year for three years. Even better, you can hunt all three seasons—archery, muzzle-loader and any legal weapon (rifle)—with your Dedicated Hunter permit. In exchange for this opportunity, you agree to complete the following requirements:

- Participate in all three years of the program
- Pass an online wildlife conservation and ethics course
- Complete a minimum of 40 service hours on Division-approved conservation projects
- Harvest only two deer in the three-year period

To learn more about the program's requirements and to read important reminders, please visit wildlife.utah.gov/dh.

Joining the program

Online applications for the Dedicated Hunter Program will be accepted from Dec. 20, 2010 until 11 p.m. on Jan. 11, 2011. You may apply as an individual or in groups of up to four hunters. Results of the drawing will be available on Jan. 31, 2011.

To join the program, visit wildlife.utah.gov/dh and click "How to apply" in the menu at the right of the page. The links will walk you through the program's online orientation course and lead you to the online application.

You must successfully complete the orientation course before you will be able to apply online. The course takes a minimum of 30 minutes to complete. Do not wait until the last minute, or you might not have time to complete the course and submit your application before the deadline.

You must pay a $10 application fee to apply for the program. If your application is drawn, you will be charged the appropriate program fee. (Dedicated Hunter program fees are listed with license and permit fees on page 9.) However, you don't have to buy a hunting license until it's time to get your hunting permit each year.

Loyalty points

If your application isn't drawn in 2011, you'll receive a loyalty point. You can also purchase a loyalty point separately. The loyalty point will ensure your application is among the first drawn to join the program in 2012.

Loyalty points are only valid in the following year's drawing.

If 2011 is your last year of enrollment in the program, you can earn a loyalty point for the 2012 drawing by completing all of the program requirements before Oct. 1, 2011. Check your status online at wildlife.utah.gov/dh.

COOPERATIVE WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT UNITS

Utah Admin. Rule R657-37

Utah's Cooperative Wildlife Management Unit (CWMU) program provides landowners with an economic incentive to keep their private range and forest lands as productive wildlife habitat.

The landowners receive vouchers for hunting permits, which they can sell for profit, as long as they also allow a percentage of public hunters on their lands.

CWMUs comprise more than two million acres of land in Utah. They will provide more than 3,400 hunting permits for bucks and bulls in 2011. About 14 percent of those permits are available to the general public through the state's big game drawing.

Obtaining a CWMU permit

If you're a Utah resident, there are two ways to obtain a CWMU permit: you can apply for one in the state's big game drawing, or you can obtain a permit voucher from the landowner or operator of the CWMU you want to hunt.

If you're not a resident of Utah, you cannot apply for a CWMU permit in the public drawing. You can, however, obtain a permit voucher directly from the CWMU landowner or operator.

For more information on redeeming a voucher and using a CWMU permit, please visit wildlife.utah.gov/cwmu and click the Information tab.

If you draw a permit to hunt on a CWMU, you must contact the CWMU operator to obtain essential information about when and where you'll be hunting. The operator will also provide the CWMU rules.

For more information on CWMU season dates, see page 6. For information on individual CWMU properties, visit wildlife.utah.gov/cwmu.

Reporting your harvest success

If you obtain a CWMU permit, you must report information about your hunt within 30 days after it ends. See page 27 to learn more about this important requirement or visit wildlife.utah.gov/harvestreporting to complete your harvest report online.

Mandatory reporting

If you obtain a premium limited-entry, limited-entry, management buck deer, CWMU, conservation, sportsman, convention or once-in-a-lifetime permit, you must complete a harvest survey questionnaire within 30 days after your hunt ends. This information is required even if you didn't harvest an animal.

If you harvested an animal, this is an ideal time to return your tooth packet. Returning your tooth packet does not fulfill the harvest survey requirement.

You can report harvest information about your hunt online by visiting wildlife.utah.gov/harvestreporting or by calling 1-800-221-0659.

Reporting your hunt information is important. If you don't report your hunt information within 30 days of the end of the hunt, you won't be allowed to apply for a once-in-a-lifetime, premium limited-entry, limited-entry, management buck deer or CWMU permits, or bonus points in 2012.

If you didn't report your 2010 harvest survey questionnaire by the deadline, you can restore your eligibility to apply for a 2011 permit by paying a $50 late fee. For more information, call 1-800-221-0659.
