

In the Utah Wildlife Board meeting on Aug. 26, 2021, the board voted to postpone receiving public comments on the trail camera recommendations until further surveys could be conducted on the issue. The recommendations regarding trail cameras, the use of night-vision devices and various other big game proposals that were made public for feedback on Aug. 23 will be presented to the public in a future meeting.

If you have any questions, please contact Staci Coons at stacicoons@utah.gov.

Which best describes your position regarding the 2022 once-in-a-lifetime species recommendations?

Strongly disagree

Do you have any additional comments about the once-in-a-lifetime species recommendations?

If you add the south Bookcliffs to the roadless and increase tags, you will totally overwhelm the roadless unit. Guarantee most hunters WILL NOT hunt the south portion. With the BLM strongly limiting access on the south with the Cottonwood Diamond ACEC for outfitters to hunt those canyons, you are creating a nightmare. Do not make the change if you plan to increase permits even one permit. The roadless is already a nightmare over populated during the bison hunt now.

Which best describes your position regarding the 2022 fishing recommendations?

Neither agree nor disagree