Somewhat agree

Do you have any comments about the black bear recommendations or seasons?

I would like to see the same program we have gone to with lions be used for bears as well. In the areas I frequent, bears are a big problem, and they affect both deer and elk populations especially during the calving and fawning seasons. I would like to see more bears harvested. Additionally, with the amount of monetary losses reported, It would actually help generate more revenue as losses hypothetically would decrease.

Another option would be to split the draw up into any bear or sow only hunts. If sow only hunts were utilized it would essentially manage the population more effectively. I think this is an option that could really benefit a lot of areas and wildlife.
